County Awarded "E" Pennant For Scrap Collections

Warren R. Roberts, chairman of the scrap campaign of the state Council of Defense, presented the "E" pennant to Adams county Chairman O. H. Benson at special exercises held in the court house Monday evening. Judge W. C. Sheely, chairman of the Adams county Defense Council presided.

The twenty-three area county scrap committee members; representatives of the war saving committees and the "Victory Fund" committees; members of allied defense committees, and visitors from Gettysburg and vicinity were present.

Mr. Benson, of Guernsey, made an appeal for continuation of the scrap campaign and continuance of the Pearl Harbor drive now going on. He also revealed instructions for the saving of tin cans. It is proposed to have housewives save all tin cans except those that contained oil or grease. The cans will be collected in the spring when a carload will be shipped from the county.

Presents Workers
Chairman Benson introduced the area leaders and committee members present and praised them for their fine volunteer work in bringing scrap into the mills.

The pennant was presented to the county for its achievement in the collection of scrap this fall.

Judge Sheely told the audience: "A year ago today the United States was attacked; everyone was stunned, shocked and a little frightened, not realizing of course until today the full import of the disaster—the Dunkirk of America. Historians say that Gettysburg was the turning point of the Civil War. They will say that the Germans did not know the English were used up at Dunkirk. Certainly, because the Japs did not know the full damage to our fleet a year ago, Gettysburg and Pearl Harbor become analogous. The war is not over by a great deal and we have much to do."

Need Service of All
Mr. Roberts, former auditor general of the state, said:

"Each and everyone of us is in the Army and each and everyone owes something to our country. Each and everyone must offer some kind of service . . . all of us cannot engage in combat duty in the Army, but each and everyone can help greatly. I congratulate you sincerely for your work in getting in the scrap for our country. Most of us did not realize the need of scrap, but the shortage was far more serious than anyone will know—it was a threat to all our mills to make the necessary ammunition and it was necessary for all of us to pitch in and get the necessary scrap to keep our mills going full force. There were thousands of tons needed and the mills will require more thousands of tons 'until Victory.' We cannot fall down on the job. It will be necessary to keep at it everlastingly until we have final victory."

Commends Times

"The Gettysburg Times is commended for its efforts in this campaign. Without its great assistance, Adams county could not have achieved its goal. Full pages, half pages and other large advertising space was liberally contributed with only one purpose—that of getting the scrap into the mills. I thank them for the praiseworthy job accomplished."

"On the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, let us hope and pray the global world will live in peace with each other and their God, particularly the U.S.A. I am pleased to present this banner to the citizens of Adams county. You have done your full duty. You have responded to your country. As time goes on and until victory comes, 'Praise the Lord, and Pass the Ammunition.'"

Thomas Gives Report
Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of Adams County War Savings and Victory committee, said:

"It is quite appropriate for the two committees to make a report on the occasion of the Pearl Harbor anniversary and I am glad to say that I have a cheerful report to

Many Help War Effort

The Gettysburg Times was lauded by Warren R. Roberts, chairman of the State Salvage committee at the pennant-presentation exercises in the court house Monday evening for its advertising and editorial promotion efforts in the recent scrap campaigns.

While these laudatory remarks are graciously received The Times passes a goodly portion of this credit on to the merchants and business men, the industrial leaders and others who cooperated with The Times in sponsoring display advertisements that were published during the several war-effort campaigns.

Although considerable of the advertising space was donated by The Times many merchants, industries and others joined in cooperative efforts to give needed stimulus to the campaigns.

The generous news space donated was done so in the spirit of cooperation with all worthwhile projects, a well-known policy of this newspaper.

In the war effort, whether it be scrap collections, sale of war bonds and stamps, civilian defense and all other efforts to produce an early and complete victory The Gettysburg Times accepting its full responsibility as a daily newspaper will, as will the merchants and industrialists of this county, give ample and full support and cooperation.

REV. SHUTTERS GUEST SPEAKER AT LIONS CLUB

The Rev. Malcolm Shutters, former Lutheran missionary to China who returned to this country on the diplomatic exchange ship, Gripsholm, last summer, was the guest speaker at the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club, Monday evening at Mrs. Smith's restaurant.

The speaker, who now is pastor of a Lutheran church in Mechanicsburg while the regular pastor is in the service as an Army chaplain, told of being taken prisoner for questioning and search after Pearl Harbor, near the end of his third year as a missionary in occupied China. He and Mrs. Shutters and other missionaries were not mistreated at the hands of a Christian Japanese Army officer who had them in charge, the minister said.

He described the Japs as "very thorough and efficient. They can be very nice and they can be very cruel. They are very confident of the outcome of the war."

Long Trip Home
After being held "prisoners" with a considerable amount of freedom of movement following their arrest at Shantung province, the Rev. and Mrs. Shutters sailed for America via the Indian ocean, around the tip of Africa and then to Brazil and home.

Robert M. Smith, office manager for the Adams Electric Cooperative of Gettysburg, was introduced as a new member of the club.

Second Lieutenant Donald M. Swope, member of the local Lions club who was commissioned last week as an infantry officer at Fort Benning, Georgia, attended the meeting and spoke briefly. He is home on a few days' leave before reporting for duty at Camp Walters, Texas.

President William A. Beales presided at the meeting with about 30 members and guests attending. A meeting of the board of directors followed the general session.

OBSERVERS WILL MEET ON FRIDAY

A meeting for chief observers and observers in the aircraft warning service will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the court house, it was announced today by Lawrence M. Sheeds, district chairman of the AWS. The meeting is open to all interested persons and the public in general.

Chief observers, their assistants, regular observers and all persons who signed as volunteers for manning the aircraft spotting post atop the First National bank building are specially urged to attend and hear Army personnel explain the importance and functions of the AWS.

In connection with their visit here Friday, Army representatives will make an inspection of aircraft spotting posts in this section of the county earlier in the day.

RALPH Z. OYLER PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Ralph Z. Oyler, West Broadway, member of the Gettysburg school board for 11 years, was elected as its president at the monthly meeting of the directors Monday evening at the superintendent's office in the high school building.

He succeeds Arthur E. Hutchison, president for the last four years. Mr. Oyler has been vice president under Mr. Hutchison and also served as chairman of the important supply committee.

The new vice president is Charles S. Black, East Middle street, another veteran director who has been chairman of the property committee. Both men were named by the unanimous vote of the board. Superintendent L. C. Keefeauver presided during the organization.

President Oyler is expected to announce the personnel of the new board committees at the January session of the board.

Accept Resignation
The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Helen Conover Harrow as first grade teacher at the High street building. Mrs. Harrow, who was married on Sunday, will end her teaching duties Friday. Her position will be filled temporarily by a substitute but directors indicated that a successor may be chosen at a special meeting later this month.

The directors also accepted the resignation of William D. Gilbert as janitor at the Lincoln school building, a position he has filled since 1935. The resignation becomes effective upon the selection of a successor.

The monthly report of the school district treasurer, The Gettysburg National bank, was presented showing a balance of $42,253. Principal receipts during the last month included tuition payments amounting to $2,074. The sinking fund balance was reported at $5,332. The monthly cafeteria fund statement showed receipts of $488 and a profit of $33.71 for the month of November.

Buy Gym Equipment
Purchase of additional equipment for the high school gymnasium including mats and a horizontal bar was authorized at an estimated cost of about $100.

Directors Hutchison, Oyler, Charles M. Sheely, Charles B. Dougherty, Ralph Z. Oyler, Charles H. Bender, Charles S. Black and M. P. Hartzell, secretary, and Superintendent Keefeauver attended.

ROTARY HEARS REV. P. D. LEEDY

The Rev. Paul D. Leedy, pastor of the Gettysburg Methodist church, addressed the weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday evening in the YWCA building, center square.

Using a penny as the theme of his talk, the Rev. Mr. Leedy told the Rotarians of several lessons that could be learned from the physical properties of a cent. He said that individuals—just as pennies—should have value, circulate, be honest, stand for liberty, be loyal to the United States of America, and acknowledge their trust in God.

Twenty-seven Rotarians attended the meeting. General Warren R. Roberts, state salvage chairman and a member of the Bethlehem Rotary club, was a guest. Another guest was Prof. J. Floyd Slaybaugh, superintendent of the Adams county schools. Paul A. Kinsey, club president, presided.

U. S. Appeals For Release Of Pennies; Need Copper

Adams county school children, their parents and friends, are being called upon to help put thousands of pennies that have been dropped into china pigs, little banks, glass jars and the like back into circulation as a direct contribution to the war effort.

County and local school officials here have received letters from the director of the mint at Washington calling attention to the opportunity there is to render "a patriotic service of great value" in putting the pennies back into circulation in time to meet pre-Christmas demands.

The letter, which has been forwarded to high school principals and teachers with the hope that through the school pupils the appeal will receive wide attention, points out that the idle small coins, especially pennies, are tying up strategic metals.

Fractures Arm In Fall From Tree

James Knox, Jr., six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Knox, Steinwehr avenue, was treated at the Warner hospital this morning for a fracture of his right arm received in a fall from a tree.

Mrs. John E. Fream, Taneytown, and Mrs. Lewis McClain, Fairfield R. 1, have been admitted as patients. Vernie Holland, Fairfield R. 2, has been discharged.

BOROUGH WILL END YEAR WITH $10,000 FUND

Gathered Monday evening for their last regular meeting of the year, Gettysburg borough council members looked over the monthly statement of Treasurer John H. Basehore—indicating the borough will end the year with a balance of close to $10,000 in the treasury—and decided the town's finances are in better condition today than they have been in years.

President H. M. Oyler declared that he personally is "very much pleased" with the financial status of the town. "You have all done a good job," he told the members, "and all deserve to be complimented. In spite of rising costs this year and the necessity of raising wages of borough employees, the town is in better shape financially than it was a year ago or at any time since I've been on the council."

$13,164 In Treasury
Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer, who was borough treasurer before he became burgess, recalled that a year ago council was hoping to get past the end of the year without beginning to borrow money to meet current bills. The treasurer's report as of December 1 this year showed a balance of $13,164.

Treasurer Basehore agreed with council that the borough's current financial standing is "good." He pointed out that expenditures for the first 11 months have stayed well under the annual budgetary limit of $40,600. November expenses (Please Turn to Page 2)

Ickes' Secretary's Office 77 Degrees; Windows Open

Baltimore, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Baltimore Sun says today that the average temperature in federal office buildings in Washington was in excess of 76 degrees, eight degrees higher than the basic temperature ordered for such structures two months ago.

The newspaper said the average was determined by "a check of buildings in widely scattered sections of the capital" with two "carefully calibrated thermometers from the Bureau of Standards, Baltimore city."

The Sun listed temperatures in various offices, among them 77 degrees in the office of the appointment secretary to Harold L. Ickes, solid fuels coordinator and 76 degrees in the office of the secretary to Leon Henderson, director of the Office of Price Administration.

Other readings varied from 74 to 78 degrees.

Brig. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, Federal Works Administrator, on Oct. 9 ordered that federal buildings were not to be heated beyond 68 degrees "in order to conserve fuel

There is now an enormous demand for the one-cent pieces, occasioned by sales taxes, federal excise taxes, vending machines and various other factors. Last year the mint used 4,600 tons of copper in the production of 1,500,000,000 pennies but such a heavy demand for the metal that is vital in war industries will not be necessary this year if men, women and children can be induced to convert their penny savings into war stamps, or even into coins of larger denomination, of which there is an ample supply.

In any case, the important thing is for the coppers to get back into circulation—through the banks, corner groceries or elsewhere in the market place. The request is only that they be put into use—not that they be sent to the mint for melting.

For every penny hidden away, the United States mint must make another to replace it.

BURGESS ASKS MORE DRAINAGE AT CROSSINGS

Town council tabled a suggestion by Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer that a survey of the town be made to determine the engineering possibilities and probable cost of additional sub-drainage facilities to handle flood waters on the town streets which often make many crossings impassable to pedestrians during even moderate rains.

The borough fathers balked at making a survey now for a project that is expected to be too large to undertake during the war. "That may be five years from now," President H. M. Oyler said, "and I, for one, don't expect to be on council then."

After Burgess Pfeffer reported to council on his observations made on a recent tour of the town during a rain storm—on which he found many street crossings "almost impassable"—LeRoy H. Winebrenner, borough engineer, told council that a similar survey had been ordered by council 10 or 12 years ago and that the project had been dropped then for financial reasons.

Post-War Project
The burgess corroborated the engineer's statement and added that he, as a member of council at that time, had voted to table the project because the borough then was badly in debt and without the means to handle such an undertaking, even though it was very necessary.

The burgess pointed out that it is not his intention that the work be undertaken immediately but that the project be prepared possibly as a post-war project to help "take up the slack" then. He suggested that alternate plans for relieving the situation be studied.

Several members of council agreed on the need for handling flood waters on the town streets and listed the Strand, St. James church, Hotel Eberhart, Rea & Derick and other crossings as particularly bad.

Mr. Winebrenner recalled that his previous study showed huge drain pipes, not now available, would be needed and that the cost involved would be "terrific."

Tire, Tube, Wheel Theft Reported

State motor police here are investigating the theft of a spare tire, tube and wheel from a cattle truck owned by Daniel Bucher, of Bendersville. Private H. W. Wagner, who is investigating, said the owner placed his loss at about $30.

The tire and wheel apparently were taken last Friday night while the truck was parked near the Bendersville garage awaiting repairs. The owner discovered the loss over the week-end and reported it to the police.

The missing tire was a 32x16 highspeed Firestone.

COUNCIL VOTES FUND TO PROBE BUYING PLANT

The members of the Gettysburg borough council at their December meeting Monday evening gave Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer what amounted to a vote of confidence and the borough utilities committee authority to spend up to $100 in their investigation of the possibilities of municipal ownership of the Gettysburg Water company.

Monday night's discussion was touched off by an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg, read by Burgess Pfeffer, which stated that the Gettysburg Water company has asked the state Public Utility commission to accept the filling of increased water rates without notifying the OPA, which has asked notification of all planned rate boosts by public utilities.

Burgess Pfeffer reviewed his previous investigations into the possibilities of municipal ownership and pointed out that all of that work had been done without any assurance of interest on the part of the members of council.

Full Support
In response to his "point blank" question, "Are you interested?" President H. M. Oyler answered for the council "We're back of your efforts 100 per cent and will cooperate in any way we can."

Then at the suggestion of the burgess council authorized the expenditure of up to $100 to bring an expert on the methods of securing municipal ownership of utilities here to explain the whole procedure to council. Arrangements will be made by the utilities committee of council, headed by George D. March.

"The OPA has placed a ceiling on utility rates and the local water company has asked to file increased rates without notifying the council," the burgess explained to council. "There might be several reasons for such action. It is possible that the announced intention of filing increased rates is a challenge to conversations that have taken place around this council table in the last few months about municipal ownership. If that is the case, I am sure Gettysburgians are ready to take up that challenge. All of the citizens of the town who have talked to me about it are very much in favor of going ahead with the investigation toward municipal ownership."

May Fight Increase
"We must look out for the interests of the citizens of Gettysburg (Please Turn to Page 5)

88 Countians Off To Army Service

Eighty-eight Adams countians reported at the New Cumberland induction center today for active duty with the U. S. Army after having been accepted last Tuesday when they were issued immediate seven-day leaves of absence.

Sixty-nine men left New Oxford at 9:30 o'clock and two hours later a bus carried 19 men from center square to the induction center.

The January call has not yet been received by the two local Selective Service boards but is expected within 10 days.

Sergeant Kane Given Promotion

Staff Sergeant Kane enlisted in the army last February 2. He was graduated from Mt. St. Mary's college where he was taking a pre-medical course. He was active in football and was captain of the baseball team at college. Prior to his induction he worked for the G. B. Martin Bomber company.

Forces Massed For Onslaught; Need Airplanes

By JAMES M. LONG
The Associated Press

A violent tank battle in which the Axis appeared to be making a supreme effort to hold onto Tunisian bases thundered in on its third day today with the veteran British First Army and American shock troops withstanding the onslaught in a horseshoe position in the hills around Tebourba.

The Algiers radio reported that behind the horseshoe line which bore the brunt of Nazi divebombing, Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson was massing assault forces to carry the attack on against Bizerte and Tunis when adequate air support had been established.

Reds Are Holding
On the Russian front, the Germans kept desperately to their counterattacks, but a Soviet communique declared: "In no sector did the enemy succeed in regaining positions he had lost or in improving his position in any way."

Heavy snowfall hampered the Red Army's drive, but the Russians reported killing 3,000 more Nazis, recapturing two more villages on the Rzhev front, and gaining ground elsewhere along the battlefield from Leningrad to the Caucasus.

The important French west African base at Dakar was thrown open to the Allied Navies and air forces as one more fruit of the widely-debated agreement between Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral Jean Darlan.

Get New Bases
General Eisenhower announced that Allied ships and planes were given free use of the prized African base nearest to South America as a result of the decision by Gen. Pierre Boisson, governor-general of French west Africa, to place himself under Darlan's orders.

Potentially Dakar affords the Allied Navies a valuable base for guarding the sea supply lanes to the African front, and a shorter route for flying bombers to the battle zone.

In Spain, whose Falangist government Germany and Italy helped to establish, Generalissimo Francisco Franco declared "We live in a new era—Spain has a place therein and will fulfill her part."

His speech had been advertised as one which would "settle the problem of Spain's international policy." If it did so, it was only by implication of Franco's sympathy with those who helped him to power.

He did not say what Spain would do, but declared: "Our task is great. When the war ends the old Europe will be dead—with its capitalism, imperialism, plutocracy."

Libyan Activity
In Libya, aerial activity increased, indicating perhaps that the British Eighth Army would open an offensive against the El Aghella line on the road to Tripoli from the east.

Fighter bombers attacked Nazi gun positions northeast of the El Aghella line and strafed the coastal supply road along the Gulf of Sirte. Other Allied planes railed Bizerte and La Goulette, nine miles east of Tunis, by night, and followed up with daylight attacks on the harbor at Sfax and German rail lines in Tunisia.

In Tunisia, too, Allied planes were reported taking an increasing part in the battle as they slowly overcame their earlier handicap of lack of advanced bases. The Algiers radio said fighter planes were gunning Axis forces but that the Allied lines still were being pounded hard by German bombers.

Snow Blows Action
On the Russian front hard-pressed German forces were reported taking advantage of recent heavy snow in the Stalingrad area to strengthen their defense positions along the escape corridor west of the city. The Germans were said to have thrown tank forces into unsuccessful counterattacks in the Don bend battlefield northwest of Stalingrad, and bitter fighting continued in the (Please Turn to Page 2)

Legion Gives $20 To Orphan School

A $20 donation to the Scotland orphan school was voted by the members of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 of the American Legion at a regular meeting in the Legion home Monday evening. Commander C. Arthur Brame presided with about 30 members present.

It was announced that there are now 127 paid up members of the Lentz post, an increase of about 45 since the last meeting. The figure about equals the enrollment for the same date last year, post officers said.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

SELL WAR STAMPS
The sale of war stamps and bonds at the Majestic theatre booth last week totaled $828.95 according to Sydney J. Poppey, manager.

NO GUARANTEE OF PREFERENCE OF SERVICE FOR U.S. SELECTEES

By CHARLES MOLONY

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—War Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt plunged into the task today of filling in the framework of a labor control structure likely to be unique in the nation's history.

McNutt scheduled a meeting with the Army and Navy chiefs of staff to work out some fundamental questions, but ahead lay reorganization of his expanded agency and perhaps a battle with the outgoing Congress in its dying days.

The first step in his program, McNutt told a press conference yesterday, will be a "determination of the basic military needs for manpower."

Geared to War Goal

While he declined on grounds of military secrecy to say whether he contemplated revision of plans for a total armed force of 9,700,000 men by the end of next year, he said this of the "second step" in his plans: "The needs of industry and agriculture have been estimated with specific reference to war production schedules and crop goals."

"The total population of the nation is now considered as a national pool from which the needs of the armed forces, industry, agriculture and essential civilian activities will be supplied."

In supplying those needs, McNutt said, draft boards now being integrated into the war manpower commission will give essential industries and agriculture equal rather than secondary consideration to the armed forces' demands.

May Select Service

While this emphasis on non-military manpower requirements promised something new for Selective Service, McNutt declared the system would continue "operating as heretofore" for the time being.

Maj. Gen. Louis B. Hershey, he added, will continue in his post of draft director, with McNutt in control of policy, "until further integration plans are perfected."

With all voluntary enlistments halted, except in some special cases, Selective Service officials will give inducements a chance to express a preference as to which branch they wish to enter, although this will not necessarily mean, McNutt said, that their preference will be granted at all times.

4 Possibilities

McNutt gave this forecast of future possibilities:

1. Rationing of scarce labor where available manpower is insufficient to meet all competing demands, the rationing to be handled through priorities "based on the urgency of various kinds of war production and services and linked to the production schedules and the flow of materials."

2. Adjustment of hours of work—upward in some industries but downward in others—and other steps to increase efficiency and to reduce absenteeism.

3. Transfer of hundreds of thousands of workers to more essential jobs, with guarantees of "suitable standards of wages and working conditions" and payment of transportation costs in some cases.

4. Channeling of all employment through the U. S. Employment Service in labor shortage areas and inspection of plant labor arrangements to prevent hoarding of unneeded workers.

McNutt said he would ask Congress soon to give him a "sufficient staff to do the job" and would ask removal of restrictions on pay scales for workers of the employment service, which has had an annual labor turnover of 90 per cent.

Methodists To Hold Candlelight Service

With the sanctuary of the Methodist church illuminated by the glow of many scores of slender white tapers, the annual Christmas candlelight service will be held Sunday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock. The service will be one of lights and carols.

In some respects the Methodist candlelight event this year will be distinctive and different from that of other years. The augmented choir of the church will assist in the service by singing several groups of old, traditional carols. Mrs. John Sanderson will be at the console. Another feature of the service will be several Bach chorales arranged for piano and organ.

With the exception of the invocation, the reading of the Nativity lesson, and the explanation of the symbolism of the lights, the rest of the service will be devoted entirely to music. The service, under the supervision of the pastor, the Rev. Paul D. Leedy, will follow as closely as practicable the traditional Christmas candlelight mass as it was celebrated in the European cathedrals during the middle ages.

Miss Jane Louise Harner, Littlestown, and George Edward Hornberger, with the Army Air Corps stationed at Kelly Field, Texas, were united in marriage Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Littlestown.

The double ring ceremony of the church was performed by the Rev. D. S. Kammerer, pastor. The ceremony was witnessed by a large number of relatives and friends. The church was decorated with baskets of cut flowers and lighted candles on the altar.

Preceding the ceremony the church organist, Mrs. Winfield A. Lippy, gave an organ recital. She played the traditional wedding marches as processional and recessional. The attendants were Mrs. J. Richard Harner, Littlestown, sister-in-law of the bride, and John Hornberger, Jr., Carlisle, a brother of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a powder blue dress with an off-the-face hat and veil to match. She wore a corsage of gardenias and sweetheart roses. The matron of honor wore a dusty rose dress with powder blue hat. Her corsage was of gardenias and pink rosebuds.

Following the ceremony the newlyweds received in the vestibule of the church. A reception followed at the home of the bride for the immediate families and a few friends. A large bridal cake topped with a miniature bride and groom was cut by the couple.

The bridegroom will leave this week for Kelly Field, Texas, where the bride will join him in the near future.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude W. Harner, East King

County Awarded

make. There is a committee founded in every county of Pennsylvania and the 48 states and I am glad to say that quotas were met by the people of this community.

"The first quota that was given to Adams county shortly after Pearl Harbor was $74,000. It was exceeded by over 30 per cent. The total sold was $94,000. We have met all other quotas since that time. A number of people do not understand all the features of the different bonds and personal contact with committee members and individuals reveals that some people have not purchased bonds who could afford to do so—this misunderstanding will be alleviated by an educational program through the different committees.

"We have our quotas fixed with the understanding that we have no defense industries. The December series E bond quota has been set at the highest of the campaign, which will mean more sacrifice and more efforts to meet it. I am sure that the citizens of Adams county will do their best in meeting this quota like all others.

"Some of the instruments and implements of war machinery used by the allied countries are beyond anyone's imagination and the large planes that engage in the battles all cost very much money. You can help the war effort by buying bonds and thereby save the lives of our boys."

Scrap Totals

Chairman Benson announced the following collections during the scrap drives in the county: (1) 116 tons; (2) 128 tons; (3) Scrap Harvest campaign, 631 tons; (4) drive including effort by newspapers, schools, REA and Scrap Harvest combined, 428 tons, and (5) Pearl Harbor collection, 243 1/2 tons.

The audience viewed a motion picture entitled "The Air Raid Warden" and then inspected the control center in the basement of the court house.

The new pennant flies today from the flag pole in center square.

BOROUGH WILL

amounted to $2,920 and brought the 1942 costs up to about $30,000, his report showed.

Approved bills on the council table Monday evening amounted to $2,469 and payroll needs for this month were estimated at $1,617.

Burgess' Report

The monthly report of the burgess showed collections in fines, fees and permits of $572.88. Largest item on the list was $428.88 in theatre taxes. Fines totaled $27; building permits, $5, and digging permits, $112.

Council agreed to pay the electric bill—estimated at about eight cents an hour—for illuminating a big "thermometer" to be built around the center square flag pole for the purpose of showing the progress of war bond and stamps sales in the county.

Reject Request

Council agreed that an offer from William I. Shields to erect a community Christmas tree in center square could not be accepted on the grounds that it might be setting a dangerous precedent to allow an individual to place a display in the borough's center plot. With the borough's street flags undergoing repairs, a suggestion from an unnamed citizen that the flags be used as holiday decorations for the town's streets, also was rejected.

An increase of $10 per month in the pay of Guy Bowling, operator of the borough truck and roller, was voted. He has been receiving $90 per month, which borough records show, amounts to less than the hourly wages paid some of the laborers in the borough highway department.

A suggestion from Sydney Poppay, manager of the Majestic theatre that the borough theatre tax ordinance be revised so that the admission price for balcony seats in the theatre would not involve odd cents, was referred to the ordinance committee for study and a report.

Tax Appeal

Mr. Poppay was quoted as saying that present borough and federal taxes make it impossible to fix the balcony seat admission at an even 30 cents. A minor change in the local tax ordinance which would not involve any change in the amount of the town's tax revenue and would not boost the price to theatre patrons more than a penny or two would solve the problem, councilmen were told.

Council agreed to share with the county commissioners the cost of a special appeal by Borough Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert to delinquent tax payers in the town. About 1,500 persons owe occupational levies and 151 have not paid this year's real estate tax, a letter from Weikert stated.

President Oyler presided with Councilmen L. D. Shealer, George D. March, Harry J. Troxell, Wilbur J. Stallamith and Joseph D. Kende-hart, Secretary Wilmer Dracha, Treasurer Basehore, Solicitor E. V. Bullett, Esq., Burgess Pfeffer and LeRoy H. Winebrenner, borough engineer, in attendance.

Stalingrad factory area which the Russians are trying to clear of invaders.

On the central front west of Moscow the Russians reported forcing ahead after beating off successive German counterattacks.

The two villages which the Russians reported recapturing near Rzhev were described as centers of Nazi resistance. Near Veleki Luki the Germans captured one little village in see-saw fighting, but lost it again as the Russian attack rolled on.

The German high command said its armored forces had broken through Russian positions to a depth of nine miles in the Kalinin-Lake Ilmen sector between Moscow and Leningrad, and were astride Russian supply lines.

Down 21 Jap Planes

In the southwest Pacific, Allied airmen destroyed 21 planes in offensive and defensive flight ranging from northeast New Guinea to New Britain and New Ireland, across almost 600 miles of ocean.

The biggest bag was on New Guinea where the Japanese sent 18 medium bombers, eight dive-bombers and 12 Zero fighters over Allied lines which have pocketed the invaders on the beaches at Buna and Gona. With little losses, the Allied fliers downed six medium bombers, five dive bombers and seven Zeros. Two Japanese planes were destroyed on their runways in a raid on Law, farther north on the New Guinea coast, and one fighter plane was shot down over Gasmata, New Britain.

Don Hutson Unanimous Choice Of AP For All-Star Professional Grid Team

BEARS PLACE 5, REDSKINS THREE ON 1ST ELEVEN

By DILLON GRAHAM

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—High-scoring Don Hutson, the veteran Green Bay end who broke one or more records every time he caught a pass this season, was the only unanimous choice for the All-League professional football team selected by Associated Press and newspaper sports writers.

This former University of Alabama wingman would easily qualify as an all-time all-league performer on practically anyone's ballot and many regard him also as the greatest star in professional football history. No rival team has been able to build a successful defense against his pass-snatching abilities.

Danny Fortmann, the Chicago Bears guard, and Sid Luckman, Bears quarterback, trailed Hutson closely, being named on all but one ballot.

Three Teams Unplaced
The thundering Bears marched off with five all-league team positions, while the Washington Redskins took three. Three teams—the Chicago Cardinals, Detroit and Philadelphia, failed to place a man on either the first or second team.

In the All-League backfield along with Luckman are Bill Dudley, Pittsburgh, and Sammy Baugh and Andy Farkas of Washington. The line has George Wilson, Bears, at the other end, Riley Matheson, Cleveland, at the other guard, Clyde (Bulldog) Turner, Bears, at center, and Willie Wilkin, Washington, and Lee Artoe, Bears, at tackles. Dudley, an All-America halfback last year with the University of Virginia, was the only rookie to make the team. Repeaters from the 1941 All-League team were Hutson, Fortmann, Luckman, Wilkin and Turner.

The Second Team
Here's the second team or reserve eleven:

Bob Masterson, Washington, and Perry Schwartz, Brooklyn, ends; Bruiser Kinard, Brooklyn, and Chester Adams, Cleveland, tackles; Bill Edwards, New York, and Charles Goldenberg, Green Bay, guards; Charles Cherundolo, Pittsburgh, center; Tuffy Leemans, New York; Cecil Isbell, Green Bay; Merlyn Condit, Brooklyn; and Gary Famiglietti, Bears, back.

This was the first time in many years that the name of Mel Hein of New York was missing. This great center, playing his 12th season of pro ball, was outvoted by Turner and Cherundolo.

Grid Conference Will Play In 1943

Representatives of 20 of the 24 members of the Lower Susquehanna Scholastic Football Conference met Monday evening in Steelton and decided to go ahead with plans for operation of the loop in 1943. All teams sought games with opponents nearer home.

Fred Bower, Camp Hill high, was elected president of the organization, and Karl Etshied of Lemoyne high was named secretary-treasurer. Trophies were awarded to Lemoyne high, Class A champion, and Hummelstown, Class B titlists. Runners-up trophies were also presented to New Cumberland in Class A and Camp Hill in Class B.

Biglerville high, a member of the conference, was represented by Prof. L. V. Stock, C. L. Yost, Robert Noll, Ellis McCracken and Dale Smith.

West Shore Cage Loop To Operate

At a meeting of representatives of the West Shore Scholastic Basketball league in Steelton Monday evening a decision was reached to have the teams play the original schedule as planned for the coming season.

Both boys' and girls' teams will play their full schedules. Robert Noll, Biglerville, president of the league, presided. The following members of the circuit were represented: Biglerville, Camp Hill, Boiling Springs, Enola, New Cumberland and Lemoyne.

The league season will open Friday, January 8.

Fined $1,500 In Lottery Ring Case

Utica, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP)—Max Biederman, Pittston, Pa., was fined $1,500 in Federal court here after he pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in connection with the operations of a 13-state lottery ring with an estimated $10,000,000 annual "take."

Fines totaling $19,000 were imposed upon 18 others in the case last Thursday. Eleven men remain to be sentenced.

Novikoff To Stay With Chicago Cubs

Chicago, Dec. 8 (AP)—There were some rumors at the recent major league baseball meetings that the Chicago Cubs' Lou Novikoff, the Mad Russian, may be traded.

Cub Manager James Gallagher has squelched the idea. "Why should we trade him now?" asks Gallagher. "Novikoff has made me walk the floor. Maybe we should have bounced him after the first look, but I guess we must have enjoyed the pain he caused."

"Anyway, his batting may come up to expectations and if it does we want him doing it in a Cub uniform."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Kushin's rations: . . . Sun Valley, the much-photographed Idaho winter sports center, is closing down Dec. 20 for the duration. . . . Reasons, shortages of manpower, food, fuel and transportation. . . . And Idaho university figures it saved $800 by making one football junket for games with Portland at Boise, Utah at Salt Lake and UCLA at Los Angeles. . . . When the New York Rangers went to Toronto from Chicago for a hockey game last week, three players weren't allowed to cross the border until they had straightened things out with draft officials. Seems they had neglected the routine of getting clearances from their local boards. . . . The California Military academy grid team dodged the gas and the tire problem recently by traveling to a game in a covered wagon.

SWAP SHOP
The scribes who reported no deals were made at last week's baseball meetings apparently overlooked the fact that Branch Rickey upheld his reputation as a trader on at least one occasion. . . . While Leo Durocher was confined to bed by an attack of flu, reports John P. Carmichael of the Chicago Daily News, Boss Rickey dropped in for a visit. . . . Leo had just collected a couple of baseball bets and had placed two $50 orders for new hats on a table. . . . Rickey noticed the slips and pocketed one. "You can't possibly wear two hats at the same time," he told Leo, "and thanks a lot."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Frankie Sinkwich and Paul Gornall, who ran one-two in the Heisman trophy voting, both will be wearing Marine uniforms when they meet today. Sinkwich was fitted out in dress "blues" before he left Georgia and Gornall is to get his "greens" today. . . . When Emerson Woodward's Valdina farm racing stable finally is assembled at the New Orleans fairgrounds, it probably will be the biggest string of racers in America with nearly 70 horses, headed by Valdina Orphan and Rounders. . . . The Temple U. footballers are getting a terrific buzz because they failed to show up for a field hockey games against the co-ed team. "Too cold" was their excuse. . . . Rogers Hornsby, business manager as well as playing boss of the Fort Worth ball club, is offering the Fort Worth park to major league clubs for spring training.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Carter (Scoop) Latimer, Greenville (S. C.) News: "Hooray for football. It furnished relaxation but in some games it was a question whether the teams relaxed more than the spectators."

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED
Fritzie Zivic, just back from the west coast, reports he got the surprise of his life while he was training for his fight with Henry Armstrong in San Francisco. . . . A sailor spectator hollered at him: "how'd you like to have Red Cochrane train with you and give you a couple of boxing lessons?" . . . Without looking around, Fritzie replied, "bring the bum around and I'll give him ten bucks to work with me besides a couple of free lessons." . . . At the end of the workout Zivic looked down at the heckler and there beside him was another sailor, Red Cochrane. . . .

SERVICE DEPT.
Mickey Cochrane, one of the best-known guys in baseball, couldn't make the Chicago baseball writers' dinner the other night because he was on a 24-hour tour of duty at the Great Lakes Naval Station.

Income payments to individuals in the United States during the first six months of this year totaled $52,071,000,000, 53 per cent above the same pre-war period of 1939.

Service Men To Play Own "Bowl Game"

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Football Bowl games on New Year's Day, a custom as American as ham and eggs, are being carried to other parts of the world by Uncle Sam's servicemen.

United States authorities at Bermuda are helping to stage the first "Lily" Bowl game there on January 1 between a squad from the Army and another from the Navy.

Both outfits already have started training, and each is being coached by a former Georgia Tech player.

Lieut. Robert Murphy, who captained the Atlanta Engineer Eleven which defeated Missouri in the 1939 Orange Bowl encounter, is handling the soldiers while Warner Mizell, a halfback on the Tech Rose Bowl team of 1929, is tutoring the sailors.

The athletes themselves are so keen about the game, they are trying to find means of broadcasting the play by play to the United States as a "thank you" for the radio accounts of the many sports events here.

Small But—
When Frankie Sinkwich arrived in New York city for today's presentation of the John W. Heisman trophy, onlookers expressed surprise at his small size.

But Coach Wally Butts of the University of Georgia, quickly came to the defense of his star back by saying that all of the bulldog opponents this fall found Sinkwich big enough.

The halfback is just a shade under 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 185 pounds when toggled out in his Marine uniform.

Politics?
Awarding of the Lambert trophy to Boston college as possessor of the outstanding Eastern football record Wednesday is slated to be a strictly athletic event but it could turn political with ease.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, of Boston, will be in the Eagle party while Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia and Jim Farley also will be in attendance.

Columbia, which customarily plays at least one inter-sectional grid football game each fall, has announced an All-Eastern schedule for 1943, opening with Harvard October 2. Other teams to be met are Yale, Army, Penn, Cornell, Dartmouth, Navy and Colgate.

Although both Columbia and Harvard are members of the informal Ivy league, it will be their first football meeting since 1901.

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREAM Sports Editor

With the announcement that a shoe factory will take over at least part of the Community building at Fairfield, basketball in the Fairfield community will probably be eliminated for an indefinite time. Fairfield high school had announced some time ago it would not participate as a member of the Adams County Scholastic Basketball league due to transportation difficulties and lack of a coach. Ellmore Slaybaugh, former coach at Fairfield, was granted a leave of absence last spring to take a position with the Dupont company. J. Warren Martin, who was scheduled to take charge of the basketball squads, is at present confined to his home with scarlet fever.

Mechanicsburg high is gunning for the top honors in the South Penn basketball league and not without reason. Coach Johnny Frederick having one of the most promising squads in many years. From last year's team are Bess Sadler and Jack Dougherty, guards, along with Dick Keet who also plays guard. The addition of Jeb Stewart, giant center, who transferred from Chambersburg high, makes Mechanicsburg probably the best team in the northern division of the loop which includes Shippensburg, Carlisle and Hershey. Coach Frederick must develop two forwards and at present Lehmer and Fleagle have the inside track on those positions. Mechanicsburg will open a 16-game schedule December 18 when John Harris high will be played at Mechanicsburg.

Awarding of the Lambert trophy to Boston college as possessor of the outstanding Eastern football record Wednesday is slated to be a strictly athletic event but it could turn political with ease.

Mayor Maurice J. Tobin, of Boston, will be in the Eagle party while Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia and Jim Farley also will be in attendance.

Columbia, which customarily plays at least one inter-sectional grid football game each fall, has announced an All-Eastern schedule for 1943, opening with Harvard October 2. Other teams to be met are Yale, Army, Penn, Cornell, Dartmouth, Navy and Colgate.

Although both Columbia and Harvard are members of the informal Ivy league, it will be their first football meeting since 1901.

When Frankie Sinkwich arrived in New York city for today's presentation of the John W. Heisman trophy, onlookers expressed surprise at his small size.

But Coach Wally Butts of the University of Georgia, quickly came to the defense of his star back by saying that all of the bulldog opponents this fall found Sinkwich big enough.

LOOKING AROUND

By DON BREAM Sports Editor

With the announcement that a shoe factory will take over at least part of the Community building at Fairfield, basketball in the Fairfield community will probably be eliminated for an indefinite time. Fairfield high school had announced some time ago it would not participate as a member of the Adams County Scholastic Basketball league due to transportation difficulties and lack of a coach. Ellmore Slaybaugh, former coach at Fairfield, was granted a leave of absence last spring to take a position with the Dupont company. J. Warren Martin, who was scheduled to take charge of the basketball squads, is at present confined to his home with scarlet fever.

Mechanicsburg high is gunning for the top honors in the South Penn basketball league and not without reason. Coach Johnny Frederick having one of the most promising squads in many years. From last year's team are Bess Sadler and Jack Dougherty, guards, along with Dick Keet who also plays guard. The addition of Jeb Stewart, giant center, who transferred from Chambersburg high, makes Mechanicsburg probably the best team in the northern division of the loop which includes Shippensburg, Carlisle and Hershey. Coach Frederick must develop two forwards and at present Lehmer and Fleagle have the inside track on those positions. Mechanicsburg will open a 16-game schedule December 18 when John Harris high will be played at Mechanicsburg.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP)—Football Bowl games on New Year's Day, a custom as American as ham and eggs, are being carried to other parts of the world by Uncle Sam's servicemen.

United States authorities at Bermuda are helping to stage the first "Lily" Bowl game there on January 1 between a squad from the Army and another from the Navy.

Both outfits already have started training, and each is being coached by a former Georgia Tech player.

Lieut. Robert Murphy, who captained the Atlanta Engineer Eleven which defeated Missouri in the 1939 Orange Bowl encounter, is handling the soldiers while Warner Mizell, a halfback on the Tech Rose Bowl team of 1929, is tutoring the sailors.

The athletes themselves are so keen about the game, they are trying to find means of broadcasting the play by play to the United States as a "thank you" for the radio accounts of the many sports events here.

MACK RELEASES FOUR PLAYERS; WILL REBUILD

Philadelphia, Dec. 8 (AP)—Baseball's never-give-up man, Connie Mack, nearing his 80th birthday, plotting a last-place ball club and plagued by the game's war-time headaches, let it be known today that he's rebuilding his long-weakened Philadelphia Athletics and hopes to win another American league championship in 1943.

Connie began his reconstruction program by announcing the outright release of three veterans and a once-promising rookie—Infielders Bill Knickerbocker and Eris McNair, ten-year men in the big leagues and therefore entitled to their free agency; Outfielder Mike Kreevich, an eight-year man, and Infielder Larry Eschen, who joined the A's last summer fresh from the campus of St. Lawrence university at Canton, New York.

Then Mack said: "We hope to get somewhere next year, and we've plenty of help on the way. Eddie Mayo, drafted from Los Angeles, will be available at third base. Irving Hall, a rookie from Williamsport, Pa., most likely will play second base. Felix Mackiewicz, who has been around several years, ought to develop into a great outfielder. And Jo Jo White, acquired from Seattle, ought to be good in center field."

Not Much Help
Of the men released, Mack had just one comment:

"They were not much help to us last year."

Kreevich, 32, was reported disgruntled with the tail-end Mack aggregation last season and also was slowed by a leg injury. The A's acquired him from the Chicago White Sox at the major league's 1941 meeting. He batted .255 in 116 games, fielded .980, and drove in 36 runs.

MAN AND BOY

A man is but a little boy on whom the years have piled.
Although he's very great in town, at home he's still a child,
And if perchance he whines you cross, though large he is of bulk,
Just like the little boy of old he's very apt to sulk.Behold him at the day's affairs where he can strut about!
That he is most important there he never lets you doubt,
But safe at home the slightest pain becomes a danger grim
And packs him off to bed and makes a whimper of him.He wants his wife to coddle him, to stroke his fevered brow
And often anxiously inquire, "Well, how're you feeling now?"
And if he's left alone awhile, just like a child, he'll call
With pleading tones, "I want a drink," he doesn't want at all.When all is well with him he's gay; he likes to romp and tease.
There's little that he doesn't know or cannot do with ease.
But however high he climbs and however smart
The women of his household know he's still a boy at heart.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

THE PEOPLE

The more I see of people the more I want to see of them—the more I want to know about them, and all that concerns them.

When God created this world, and put people on it, and made so many of them different, giving to them characteristics to fit the climate or the location where planted, he certainly must have had good reasons for making some of them white, some yellow, and some dark in color—though he put into the heart of all about the same urges and hungers. Inside he meant that they should all be so constructed that they could in time get along all right as one happy and prosperous family.

Certainly the Creator never meant that the human race should, through hatred and greed, exterminate itself. I have met and talked with scores of people of various nationalities and derivations, and when you meet them on a common ground, what difference is there between them? It is too bad that all do not talk the same language, or one that could universally be understood, so that all differences might be happily settled in a just and peaceful way.

The curse of the world is selfishness. Get rid of that and you solve most of the problems of all the world. Unselfish people are always happy. A re-constructed world on an unselfish basis with the individual, free to live out his urges and spiritual tendencies, would free nationalities of all their suspicious and hates.

There is a tremendous upsurge of religious thinking and feeling in the world, occasioned by this present tragic war. It is spreading everywhere. Leaders, soldiers, and nation feel it—sense it, as a great storm is sensed. Newspaper reporters tell about it as they return from the front lines. People—the common people—are more and more coming into their own. This is a war to give them their wings spread!

No group, no matter how strong, can go against the will and purpose of the people—the real ones who have to sacrifice and give of their lives in war. Free nations, and free fighters, know why this war is being fought. But when it is ended they want the people to rule everywhere. Not subjugated, or controlled, but made free to grow up

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Miscellany: Since 1844 there have taken place 1,310 baptisms in St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic church, and of this number Rev. Father Boll, the present pastor, has officiated at 765.

The farmers throughout the county have already completed a considerable amount of fall plowing. Luther Cashman, David Hewitt, D. Delap and George Mummet are applicants for the Bendersville postmastership.

Benjamin Deardorff, of Butler township, resigned as director of the Liberty and Independent Fire Insurance association, and Harry Riddlemoser, of Franklin township, has been appointed in his place.

The collection on Thanksgiving for the Benevolent Society amounted to $12.84.

The Presbyterian Sunday School has lifted a collection for the purpose of purchasing a large photograph of their former pastor, the late Rev. Dr. Demarest. A memorial tablet will also be put in the lecture room.

During the past week three deer were on exhibition at the Washington house. They were shot on the mountain, where some of our local sportsmen are encamped.

Many of the splendid pine trees in the National cemetery, along the western wall, which it took years to grow, have been ordered by the department to be removed and the work is now being done under direction of Superintendent Hamilton. The removal of some would have been an improvement but this wholesale destruction was uncalled for and was done against the judgment of the landscape gardener. The cemetery is awfully bare and does not look itself. Some one has blundered.

Personal Mention: Miss Bessie Baugher is home from a visit to Miss Hurchinhouse in Baltimore.

Miss Jennie Smith, who has been in Chicago and different points in the west for a year, returned to Gettysburg on Friday.

Calvin G. Gilbert has been granted by the examining board of the Bar, the privilege of beginning the study of the law. He will register with S. McC. Swope, Esq.

Mr. Morris, secretary of the Baltimore YMCA, accompanied by his wife, spent several days last week in town, as the guest of Miss Mary McConaughy.

Miss Belle Wilson, of Baltimore, is visiting Miss Margaret Bigham, of Greenmount.

We are sorry to state that Israel Garretson, of Butler township, and A. C. Musselman, of Fairfield, are both quite sick.

Miss Mollie Tate and Miss Effie Kitzmiller, of Gettysburg, are visiting Misses Clara and Fannie McLaughlin, at McKnightstown.

Miss Grove, of Hanover, visited recently with Miss Emma Faber.

William Cassatt has enlisted in the regular army at Harrisburg. He was taken to David's Island for instruction.

Mrs. H. T. Weaver and children have returned from a visit to Baltimore.

Miss Barr, of Two Taverns, is visiting Miss Agnes Barr.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Horner, of Philadelphia, spent Thanksgiving with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Charles Horner.

On Wednesday William Wible, executor of John Wible, of Straban township, sold the mansion property, in that township, containing 6 acres improved with 2-story brick house to James B. Slaybaugh for $600; and a tract of cleared land in same township, containing 6 acres to George Sheeler for $30.

C. E. Spangler has sold through Martin Winter's agency his house and lot on Carlisle street to the Rev. Dr. H. W. McKnight on private terms. The store room will be for rent April 1st, '93.

H. E. Spangler, Iowa, Heads GOP National Committee

IS ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION; TWO WITHDRAW

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

St. Louis, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Republican National committee—harmoniously united again after one of its bitterest feuds in history—set about organizing for the 1944 presidential campaign today under a new chairman labeled a neutral toward all candidates and one who said he was ready to call in and discuss strategy with all factions.

He is 63-year-old Harrison E. Spangler, Iowa party wheelhorse formerly associated with the Herbert Hoover and Alf M. Landon campaigns. He was elected chairman by acclamation late yesterday to succeed Rep. Joseph W. Martin, of Massachusetts, who resigned to devote all his time to his duties as leader of an enlarged house minority.

The Cedar Rapids attorney who has been a member of the committee for ten years, emerged as a compromise choice to break a two-ballot deadlock between Werner W. Schroeder, Chicago attorney and Illinois committee member, opposed by the Wendell L. Willkie forces on isolationist grounds, and Frederick E. Baker, a young Seattle business man.

Schroeder and Baker withdrew and proposed Spangler's election in the interest of harmony.

The Willkie forces stopped Schroeder but could not claim Spangler as their man, nor could any other presidential possibility. A Willkie spokesman said their group was satisfied though, because Schroeder had raised an issue and it was successfully met.

As a further move to keep the party on an even keel as it plans for 1944 under the impetus of the recent election gains, the committee before adjourning adopted a resolution reaffirming committee and House Republican declarations of last April and September advocating that the United States owed it to the world to help other nations in making the next peace last.

The April resolution adopted at Chicago was largely a Willkie product.

Seek "Just Peace"

Senator Taft of Ohio, who has renounced any presidential ambitions for himself in 1944 and came out for Governor John W. Bricker of his home state, was a Schroeder backer, but he nevertheless offered the post-war cooperation resolution in conjunction with Clarence Budington Kelland, Arizona committee man, and executive and publicity director of the committee, and H. Alexander Smith, new committee member from New Jersey.

"This committee," the resolution added, "dedicates itself to victory over our foreign enemies, to a just peace when war shall end, and to the preservation of the republic under our constitution."

Spangler at his first press conference last night said he was in agreement with the party declarations on a post-war collaboration policy and added:

"We all know we have a certain responsibility growing out of the war and it is up to us to carry our share of the load."

In accepting the chairmanship, Spangler told the committee he interpreted it not as a personal victory but as part of the effort to "defeat the New Deal."

"I started out after that animal in 1932," he said, "and I hope in 1944 that I can be there at the kill."

The veteran Iowa committeeman told reporters he planned to discuss campaign plans with Willkie and all other party leaders.

261 Millions In Bonds Purchased In First 5 Days

Philadelphia, Dec. 8 (AP)—A total of $261,082,650 in subscriptions during the first five days of the Victory Fund drive was reported today by the Third Federal Reserve district, covering 48 counties in Pennsylvania, nine in southern New Jersey and the three in Delaware.

Banks subscribed $117,623,000 in 1½ per cent Treasury bonds of 1948 and individuals and other subscribers, $7,132,500. Subscriptions for Victory bonds of 1948 bearing 2½ per cent interest totaled $95,910,500.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP)—Damage caused by a spectacular two-alarm fire at the warehouse of the Stanley Brothers Furniture company yesterday was estimated by General Manager Joseph Kaczmarek at $135,000.

Approximately $100,000 worth of new furniture, much of it sold and awaiting Christmas delivery, was lost, Kaczmarek said.

Fireman Louis Stanton was hurt by falling debris during the two hour battle to control the flames.

Fire Chief Lawrence Scully said the fire broke out in the basement near a newly installed furnace.

Byrd Wants To Delete Foolish Questions From Federal Questionnaires

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Washington, Dec. 8 (AP)—Professor Byrd and his Congressional quiz kids today are dreaming of a white Christmas—not from snow, but from a blizzard of letters and questionnaires.

The professor, more formally known as Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) and the quiz kids—a baker's dozen Congressmen—compose the joint committee on reduction of non-essential Federal expenditures.

The committee, which is putting the old quiz whammy right back on those government questionnaires that quiz the taxpayers, recently asked Federal bureaus to submit copies of "all questionnaires, forms, regulations, instructions and form letters requesting information" issued in the last year and a half.

The quiz kids also intimated that ordinary citizens might kirk in with a little pertinent dope, and then ducked.

"It would seem," said a Senator's secretary, "that the gentlemen hit the jackpot."

Stop Counting

Wearily she surveyed four desks piled high with questionnaires, letters and wires from perturbed parties—to say nothing of a few hundred incidental reports, rules and bound regulations.

And these did not include the personal take of each committee member, nor those received by scores of other Congressmen not even connected with the committee, which is trying to find the answer to the question of why so many questionnaires are needed.

The staff quit counting long ago. Now they merely measure the growing mass and report periodically on the cubic content there.

A quick and gingerly poke through the pile brought out such questions as these:

"To what extent are you financially indebted for other than ordinary current accounts?" Answer unprintable.

"List your principal non-legal interests and activities while a student."

Water that is consumed rapidly is apt to be thrown off in excessive perspiration.

They Made Sure

Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP)—Traffic Officer Gaspar Plovachy and his brother, Corporal Paul Plovachy, home on furlough from the Army, still argued today about which one bagged the biggest deer killed so far this season in this vicinity.

Only one deer figured in the argument—a 165 pound buck with 15 points which ran 200 yards after being shot late yesterday near Fort Necessity.

"We both fired simultaneously," explained the policeman. "And there were two bullet wounds. I think I shot the one that proved fatal. So does Paul. But why worry, there's enough meat for us all."

Raids Net Nine Slot Machines

Harrisburg, Dec. 8 (AP)—In a series of 15 raids on clubs in and near the city, city police and county detectives arrested 15 persons and seized nine slot machines.

The raids followed publication of a story yesterday by the Evening News in which the newspaper listed clubs which it said were operating slot machines.

The raids, directed by District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, found slot machines at only one place—the Central Democratic club—but arrested 15 men. Alderman Harry Bowman declared. He said the men were released in $500 bail each and will be given hearings on December 14.

OPEN PROBE OF FRAUD AT NAVAL DEPOT

Harrisburg, Dec. 8 (AP)—The first of a long line of witnesses was called before the Federal grand jury investigating charges of fraud and bribery in the construction of the $400,000 Naval supply depot at Mechanicsburg.

Among those scheduled to appear at the jury's initial session was U. S. Commissioner Sidney E. Friedman, who has charged Federal Bureau of Investigation and Naval Intelligence officers "were hamstringing" investigations at the 800-acre installation.

Tom C. Clark, chief of the Justice department's war frauds unit, said Friedman would be one of the first to be called and added that eight hours daily would be devoted to hearing testimony. Twenty-five Federal agents are among the scheduled witnesses.

Clark declared it was not probable that the investigation would be completed this week but said enough evidence may be written into the records to warrant asking for some indictments.

Complete Probe

"It is going to be a complete investigation no matter how long it takes," Clark asserted. "We are going to call everybody who knows anything about the matter. The investigation will go wherever leads take us."

In charging the jury of 11 men and six housewives, impaneled yesterday, Judge Albert L. Watson said "some matters of grave importance may come before you" and urged the jurors to "give them the same careful consideration as all other matters."

The investigation opens less than a week after Commissioner Friedman declared there was "a solid basis in fact" in reports that "wholesale theft, bribery and embezzlement" in construction work at the depot resulted in a million-dollar shortage of equipment and materials.

Attorney General Biddle said his accusation of "hamstringing" of FBI and Naval agents was ridiculous. Biddle directed the grand jury inquire into the charges and placed Clark in charge.

COUNCIL VOTES

and it may become necessary for us to file exceptions to the proposed increased water rates here," the burgess continued.

Then he explained that there are three "schools of thought" on the best procedure for acquiring public ownership of public utilities. One procedure is possible under the Act of 1874, another through the means of appointing a borough authority for direct negotiations with the utility while a third may be followed under the Act of 1941. Advice on the best course to follow will be sought by the utilities committee and later expert advice will be made available to council in line with action taken Monday evening.

One change in the picture here concerning the local water company, the burgess said, is the report that the holdings of the Associated Gas and Electric company, which controls the local water company, have come into the hands of a private individual. Local citizens who know that and read the new report about the proposed increased rates are "jittery" about the whole situation, Pieffer said.

Two Girls and a Man

Chapter 14
Voice From the Past

On the fast, wild drive from Frisco to Carmel, Carlos sketched the script for Rita, talking sometimes with both hands, while Rita grabbed the wheel to keep the speeding car on the white highway. It was a good story, Rita acknowledged. It had Carlos' usual verve, his usual cocked characters doing impossibly delightful things. She found herself laughing frequently at Carlos' genius for amusing.

Rita relaxed even as she argued points of plot structure. Gradually she began to enjoy the beauty of their surroundings. Wide, fresh green fields swept away from the high back to distant hills. Small towns approached them, were left behind.

They slipped through Monterey and drove along the winding coast road with its dark pines marching down to the sloping white sandy beach. At seven o'clock, Carlos, still talking, stopped at the Del Monte Lodge. "We eat here," he said brusquely. "I want to go into the monkey room—may give me inspiration for that last scene."

The monkey room, a place of red leather chairs, the wall covered with a multitude of monkeys in every conceivable endeavor—having tea, playing golf—dancing, amused Rita. They had a gay dinner and ate leisurely, though Carlos kept the waiters running desperately. Then they were on their way again, winding along the beautiful ocean road past the mansions of Pebble Beach, and at last into the sleepy little colony of Carmel.

Rita found she was to stay at the Carmel Inn only when Carlos stopped the car before the small artistic hotel and directed the bellhop to take her bags to 210. He went with her to the desk, delivered her the key of the room and told her the key fast.

The cold, pine-scented air, the soothing murmur of wind through tall trees together with an overdose of fatigue lulled Rita into a deeper sleep than she had had since her father's death.

Feeling more like her old buoyant self the next morning, she slipped into a fresh blue-striped cotton cotton frock and sauntered down to find some breakfast. But Carlos' car was there already. Carlos' houseboy grinning apologetically beside it.

"Pretty early to go to work," he touched his cap to her with the alacrity of those serving Carlos, "but Mister White said you could sleep this morning till you woke up, anyway. And he's waitin' breakfast. He says the food here is only for those contemplative suicides."

Cock-eyed Day

Rita found Carlos waiting breakfast literally. Sitting at a table on his sun-washed, glass-enclosed porch that looked down through pine trees to the dancing blue of the sea, he had turned his plate over and was editing a page of script on the back of it, mumbling loudly to get the rhythm of the dialogue more exact. "Come in, you hibernating daughter of Morpheus," he shouted without looking up. "That scene you had the bad taste to criticize yesterday has been murdered and resurrected. If you don't like it now, you're fired." He read it to her while the houseboy expertly served them an elaborate breakfast, then they moved into Carlos' study, a weird room of bamboo walls and leopard skins. Rita's hands flew over the typewriter keys to Carlos' dictation.

Just as Carlos' voice dropped wearily on a last "Dissolve out" and he sank into a chair beside her desk, the houseboy appeared in the doorway.

"Lunch?" he suggested hopefully. "My God, what kind of digestive systems d'ya think we have?" Carlos roared. "We just ate breakfast!"

"Five hours ago," the houseboy grinned.

Rita laughed. "It doesn't seem possible," she admitted.

Carlos wiped his face with a huge handkerchief and yawned. "You're not so bad," he approved. "You should have heard the suggestions my last secretary gave me. Wash your hands, child. We'll grab a bit of food and then we'll really get down to work."

"After lunch, we take a siesta," Rita retorted. "My Mexican blood pressure."

She wandered with Carlos through the cottage. It was a fascinating accumulation from his years of travel. Every curio in the large, luxurious rooms had a story. There was the murderous scimitar that Carlos had wrangled from a head hunting tribe before they could carry out their original plan of using it on him.

There were skulls dug from Mazatec, a small idol from the Easter Islands, a splinter chipped from the sphinx; there were sky-blue Chinese rugs and deep, rich Persians. There were Indian fan chairs and monastic Tibetan prayer stools. Carlos told of them all with the same brisk, conversational zest.

The Picture

At lunch he shouted insults via telephone at his producer. After lunch he read the San Francisco news while he smoked his pipe. Rita stacked carbons at her desk. She sat curiously light hearted and refreshed in this mad atmosphere of creative tension.

Her old enthusiasm and eagerness was swelling up within her to get on with the next scene. This was the world she had lived in in the publishing house—her world for the moment seemed vague and far away.

Carlos' long, low whistle cut through her reverie. "... my lucky day!" he was mumbling. "This is really my lucky day!" He shook the paper at her violently as he pointed vaguely to a picture. "He's coming out to Frisco! It's a miracle!"

"Who?" Rita was casually amused. Then suddenly the paper stopped waving and she saw the picture plainly. It was Clark Pasquin! "A miracle!" Carlos was howling.

MONTGOMERY IS DETERMINED TO DEFEAT ROMMEL

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

With the British Eighth Army in Libya, Dec. 8.—As we draw closer to the moment when the great battle will be joined at El Aghella it is increasingly apparent that Allied fortunes rest in a major degree upon the personality and military skill of one man, Gen. Sir Bernard Montgomery, commander of the British Eighth Army.

In the minds of thousands of young fighting men who swarm the desert, the name of Montgomery has become synonymous with success.

It's the rabbit's foot they carry with them to insure victory. They've come to have unlimited confidence in him and because of that they have confidence in themselves.

In short, Montgomery and the morale of the British army are pretty much one and the same thing—and right now it is mighty high.

Because Montgomery does hold so much of our destiny in his own hands I made a special effort to find him and I finally ran him to earth after a long, hard chase of several days back and forth across the fighting zone.

In Front Action

You will gather from this that the general is an active individual who runs his own show. He is laying plans for a supreme effort and he isn't leaving all the details to subordinates. Point number one to observe about him is that he isn't one of those generals who operate from bases in the rear.

He is up in the action where he can see what is happening and can make quick decisions on the field.

I found Montgomery in his car.

"I'll get him down here to read the script. Converting that hard-shelled stage actor to the screen will be the crowning achievement of my career."

Rita was on her feet. Her chair tipped and fell with a crash, her straining fingers gripped the edge of her desk. Carlos stared at her white, strained face in blank astonishment as she whispered, "No—not!"

van—a small mobile headquarters which can be got in motion on the road in a few minutes if necessary. I must admit it was with some misgiving that I approached his little house on the sands for I wasn't sure just what sort of individual I was going to meet. I had read some articles which pictured him as a cold-blooded two-gun killer who shoots for the love of it. That isn't the type of man I admire or trust and I didn't want to find one in command of an Army.

Ardent Crusader

Well, I've encountered a good many killers in the generation that I've been knocking around the world as a reporter and it can be said that Montgomery isn't one of them.

He isn't a killer in the sense that we Americans use that term. But don't let this statement give you a wrong impression of the man.

Montgomery will kill—let none mistake that. There burns in his grey eyes the unmistakable flame of the crusader. If he were not a great general he would be in some other field of leadership and it would involve idealism if I've sized up my man rightly.

On that basis he will kill. But he will do it as a duty and not because it pleases him.

Montgomery was in his little house on wheels when I tramped up to his front and only door. The first indication that anyone was home came when a strong and cheery voice called out:

Ready for Battle

A kindly faced, grey-haired man shook hands cordially and waved me to a chair.

"Is everything well with us as we come up for battle, sir?" I asked him.

He looked me straight in the eye—one of his characteristics—and nodded. The morning sun streamed through the door and deepened the strong lines of his face. There was no mistake about that nod. He meant yes.

So the general nodded and then he said: "Things go well. We shall not fail at El Aghella, though here may be a hard battle. The Germans will fight."

"I told my men at the beginning of the campaign that our job was to drive the Boche out of Africa," he said. "We shall do that. There is no alternative. There is no question of anything else."

The general's eyes twinkled and he laughed when I told him that some of the men were betting the combined Allied forces would have Christmas dinner in Tripoli.

Morale Is Good

It was evident that the report pleased him, as well it might, for it indicated that his troops were in high fettle.

However, Montgomery knows when to talk and when not to talk. He didn't answer me directly about the Yuletide dinner, but did give a far better reply.

"Morale is the thing," he declared, and his voice vibrated. "Morale is the thing."

"You can do anything with an Army if its morale is high. Your troops must be in that frame of mind where they want to fight, where they're anxious to meet the enemy in battle. . . ."

"The morale of our men is high. They want to fight. . . ."

I asked the general how long he thought the war would last.

"I believe it is likely to be long," he replied.

"The only way to win is to defeat the Germans on the battlefield. (Here speaks a man who will kill when he has to.)"

"The greatest mistake we can make is to fail to recognize this and to underestimate the enemy's strength."

"The German is a good soldier and will fight, though I believe it is true that once you get him down he cracks up. But we must smash him and do it on the battlefield with armies."

"A battle," observed the general at another point in the conversation "is a contest between two men—the commanders—to see who can outwit the other."

He turned to a life-size photo of the head and shoulders of a striking looking soldier.

"That's Rommel," he remarked and added with a smile, "I captured that."

"What do you think of him?" I asked.

"He's a grand soldier," replied Montgomery, "but we shall beat him."

"You're confident—your own morale is high," I said.

He nodded and again looked me squarely in the face. Montgomery believes in himself. No doubt about that."
